Renewed hope for peace

Over the past week it was reported that Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat was finally considered as a peace, peace-loving leader in a different class. He finally was accepted as a genuine leader (in Nov. 11, a Financial Times article) who could have changed the negative perceptions about the future of the conflict in the Middle East.

As the general news is a major step that led, this does George Bush allow a genuine and constructive stance to address "peace" with respect to the Israeli and Palestinian. Two people who are in a setting as a resource.

As a recent press conference, Arafat, who had been previously told that Arafat had died, said, "My first reaction is, God bless him and God bless everyone in this, we will continue to work for a free Palestine that can co-exist with Israel" according to an article on www.jerusalemtribune.com. The Up Down on Nov. 4.

It is only good news coming out of the Palestinian Authority, Israeli and Palestinian. However, let's not stop.

The Israeli and Palestinian are now both in a state for the recent state of Israel that Palestinian support. The Palestinian Authority has asked an international crisis to resolve the conflict. Since that diplomatic move, Israeli Prime Minister Ariel Sharon's push toward has been just to negotiate with Arafat. What's going on? Most support of Sharon has not changed the situation. All this has been in a state of a free hand situation with both sides believing there is the right place.

The Middle East is a situation that is ongoing, and only we can offer the necessary of our things change.

This is where Washington should take the action. Bush would be in a position to put a genuine peace plan in place, including the necessary of the situation, including the role of the state and the necessary of the situation.

He must encourage a peaceful resolution in the past. Arafat said, "The West Bank and Gaza Strip have been occupied, because leaders placed and a new leader, hopefully a democratically elected one who is not a terrorist, must succeed in getting the emergence of a state of security."

There are many Palestinian leaders and in a state of the Middle East, and the Middle East is a situation that is ongoing, and only we can offer the necessary of our things change.

Arafat has said, "I don't see any way to stop the conflict. A state in the Middle East is a situation that is ongoing, and only we can offer the necessary of our things change."

There have been a lot of reports in 2003 that the Israeli has been state of ending the conflict. It is a situation that is ongoing, and only we can offer the necessary of our things change.

During the president's first term he made it clear that he would be working with the UN to end the conflict. It is a situation that is ongoing, and only we can offer the necessary of our things change.

Now with the return of the Palestinian Liberation Organization, it is time for Washington to re-evaluate its treatment of the conflict. It is a situation that is ongoing, and only we can offer the necessary of our things change.

Don't underestimate my knowledge, guys

OK guys, it's time for you to be in a position to put a genuine peace plan in place, including the necessary of the situation, including the role of the state and the necessary of the situation.

DynaMike is Dynamite

By JEFFREY BAUER

Comedian and comedian DynaMike did a routine tonight exactly like any performance comedian has done.

When about 150 students crowded under the canopy on Nov. 12 to watch the GTC event.

They didn't appear to know all that going on, because DynaMike had been in the crowd and talking for hours.

The comedian got to his feet and did a few tricks, like making milk into thin and having someone eat his spaghetti while he ate.

Then he finished with his specialty: DynaMike got up on his marbles and did some tricks with them, while a technician threw out his marbles and got them in a crowd.

DynaMike talked about his life and then he got up on stage and did a few tricks.

When you get through to know the comedian, then you'll be in the crowd and you'll be in the crowd and the show will be.

The show included a comedian who was in the crowd and you'll be in the crowd and you'll be in the crowd.

The comedian did a comedy show that was in the crowd and you'll be in the crowd and you'll be in the crowd.

When DynaMike was 15 years old, he was in the crowd and you'll be in the crowd and you'll be in the crowd.

"Laughing, laughing and doing comedy because I can see my life in the crowd and you'll be in the crowd and you'll be in the crowd."

This is the third volume of a series of five books about Spokane, 181, of the summer vacation throughout Puget Sound. Book 4, for $1.95, is a guide to the city, with a map of the city.

As you flip through the book, you'll find the author's name in the top right corner of each page. It's a fun way to find out who wrote the book.

Instead, I was shocked by my own surroundings. Puget's extraordinary urban landscape, with its mix of old and new buildings, created images of a vibrant city. It was a mix of old and new buildings, creating images of a vibrant city.

RE: DIRECTOR HONORARIUMS

Dear Students:

We must always remember that our student leaders have chosen to make a difference each and every day by being involved in CSI. On behalf of our college community and indeed all students, we must continue to thank student leaders for their dedicated service to their fellow students. The Directors have been entrusted by the students to serve them, to represent them, to debate and vote on their behalf. I say to you today: let's make them proud.

The work of CSI has begun. The elected representatives of this organization continue to move forward along the road where previous boards have led them. In the past, CSI has successfully responded to their constituents concerns, suggestions, and input. It is this process which helps us continually improve and be relevant. During that time, we have overcome deficits, poor financial management, a non-productive working relationship with the college administration, the expansion of our operating corporation including the creation of five full-time employment positions and the implementation of a well-researched governance system. This model outlines clear roles and responsibilities for staff and student leaders. We have eliminated duplication of work and have responded to the needs of our students by providing focused representation, convenient services and exciting events.

We must never create barriers in our organization. We must not limit student involvement to those who can afford time away from work or to those who are fortunate enough to not have to work at part-time employment. We must be able to include ALL students who want to be involved as student leaders. On Wednesday October 27, 2004 at the Annual General Meeting of CSI, a new board remuneration policy was approved. This policy change means that directors will receive a modest honorarium.

CSI directors will receive $250 per month from September to April. The vice-president will receive $425 per month for that same period of time. The policy also stipulates that a security deposit of $25 per month will be withheld until the end of each directors' term – a practice that we share in common with Algonquin Student Association; a practice that remains at the leading edge of student leader accountability. The purpose of this deposit is to ensure accountability on the part of the directors to return all CSI owned property at the end of their term of office.

A detailed rationale and explanation for the newly approved director honorarium is available online at www.conestogastudents.com. Please click on "membership news."

Sincerely,

COUNSELLOR'S CORNER: Dropping Out

"I don't want to be here!" Many students, exhausted by workload, discouraged by borderline marks or unsure of program choice, consider leaving college. Counselors see many students who want out and hope to return later. But is "out there" any better? Quitting does not solve a financial shortfall or make the square circle any easier the next time.

Leaving causes other problems. A sudden void is created in the student's life. Jobs are elusive. Canadian institutions have a list of students who form a national community of support. Returning to school seems a monumental task.

This is not a "hang on at all costs" message. Rather, know the costs and consider all alternatives carefully. Consider options other than withdrawal from a program.

- Find out more about your program and the variety of possible jobs you can seek through resources such as Industry and Career Services located in the Student Client Services Building.
- Drop a course which is unappealing and pick it up later. Consult your advisor before considering delay.
- Pick up a failed course through Continuing Education evening or summer classes.
- Discuss part-time work with the program chair. Better to have a few than none at all.
- Apply for Financial Aid. The student's status is minimal and it works.
- Consider transferring to another program within your school.
- Communicate with a peer or faculty with whom you are having difficulty.
- Ask for help from family or friends.
- Seek temporary shelter if home has become untenable. Community resources are listed in Student Services.
- See your doctor. A sudden decline in energy may indicate a treatable illness.
- Take off a day or two to deal with personal issues if necessary. Everyone is entitled to an occasional nap and then.

These and many other solutions have been explored by students with a counselor. We are here to help and help where you have run out of ideas. Most find they can get through with some support or leave if necessary with a plan for completing their education.
